Group of persons entitled to apply:

Students of the Georg-August-Universität who fulfill the requirements of §145 and §146 SGB IX (Severely Disabled Persons Act). According to §145 SGB IX, persons with severe disabilities who are significantly impaired in their mobility in road traffic as a result of their disability or who are helpless or deaf are transported free of charge by companies operating public transport on presentation of an appropriately marked ID card. In order to receive this pass, the personal requirements of §146 SGB IX must be met. According to this, a person's freedom of movement in road traffic is significantly impaired if, as a result of a walking impairment, they are unable to cover distances in local traffic that are normally covered on foot without considerable difficulty or without endangering themselves or others.

For severely disabled persons with a degree of disability of at least 80, proof of a significant impairment in their ability to move in road traffic can only be provided with an ID card with an orange area printed on one side and a registered G, GI, aG, BI or H mark.

It is recommended that applications are handed in personally at the secretariat to check that they are complete.
